Coil Construction announces new Vice President of Business Development

SEDALIA, MO. (October 2, 2007) — Coil Construction of Sedalia, Inc., announced John M. Howard as Vice President of Business Development. Howard's duties will now include responsibilities in business development, as well as continuing with project management and estimating. John began working with Coil Construction as a Project Manager in 2004 and has been responsible for several successful design-build and construction management projects for the company. John has shown special skills with high profile clients and complicated projects. John has worked on a variety of projects ranging from Central Missouri State University South Todd Hall to Warrensburg Professional Suites. John currently is working on two projects in Warrensburg and Sedalia. John will continue to reside in Sedalia, and work in the company's Sedalia office at 1803 West Main Street.

Coil Construction was founded in 1975 by Randy Coil. Coil specializes in institutional, retail, professional and industrial construction throughout the Midwest, with an emphasis on construction projects in Missouri.
