Coil Construction rebuilds Loveall RV after fire destruction

COLUMBIA, MO (July 21, 2011) — Coil Construction is rebuilding Loveall RV after a fire destroyed their offices on January 18 of this year. The new Loveall RV will be completed by October first of this year.

Coil Construction is placing a new pre-engineered structure onto the existing concrete pad at Loveall RV located on I-70 exit 133 in Columbia. The new building is similar in size at 14,000 square feet, structured in steel with wood framed interior office space. All interior finishes will be new including a seven zone fire sprinkler unit; however much of the floor plan is similar to the previous building.

Loveall RV is located at 8877 East Interstate 70 Drive NE in Columbia. Loveall RV has remained open in a temporary location on site. "We look forward to our grand opening this fall when we can offer hundreds of great deals," said David Duffy, President and Owner of Loveall RV. "It's been great to work with Coil Construction; they've been available and transparent throughout the building process." Those interested in notification of the new Loveall RV open house can visit www.loveallrv.com.
