Coil Construction hires assistant project managers

COLUMBIA, MO (July 6, 2011) — Coil Construction is pleased to announce two new additions to the team at Coil Construction.

Don Prose has been hired as an assistant project manager at Coil Construction. Prose has responsibilities for assisting management for the University of Missouri Greek housing projects this summer and the renovation of the Fine Arts building at Central Methodist University in Fayette. Prose is currently pursuing his Professional Engineer's license.

Prose received a bachelor's degree in Civil Engineering from the University of Missouri-Columbia.

Daniel Hoyt joins Coil Construction as an assistant project manager. Hoyt's responsibilities include assisting management on a series of MERS-Goodwill projects, both renovations and ground-up construction, in the St. Louis area and Illinois. Hoyt is currently pursuing his Professional Engineer's license.

Hoyt received a bachelor's degree in Civil Engineering from the University of Missouri-Columbia.

Coil Construction specializes in institutional, retail, professional and industrial construction throughout the Midwest, with an emphasis on construction projects in Missouri.
